

Development Permits are required for all residential and commercial developments in the municipality. Farm buildings (exclusive of any dwelling or intensive livestock operations), where accessory to a permitted agricultural use or existing farmstead are exempt from development and building permits. Farm dwellings require a development permit.