

Development permits are required for all residential and commercial development in the municipality. Farm buildings (exclusive of any dwelling or intensive livestock operations), where accessory to a permitted agricultural use or existing farmstead are exempt from development permits